

Enhancing Performance in Complex Care

- through avoiding and trapping error in Emergency Medicine

Human Factors in Emergency Medicine : incorporating behavioural and cognitive aspects of human interaction within multidisciplinary teams in the ED.
By helping you to develop your self-awareness and improve your team performance, this course aims to promote medical leadership and team membership within Emergency Medicine

Friday 24th February 2012
08:30 – 17:30

Venue

Postgraduate Medical Education Centre
Central Manchester University Hospitals
NHS Foundation Trust

Manchester Royal Infirmary

Oxford Road Manchester M13 9WL

Tel: 0161 276 8731

Fax: 0161 276 8012

Cost

£265.00 - Lunch and refreshments included

8 CPD points awarded for full attendance

For further information and to register please email:

theresa.campbell@atrainability.co.uk

Developed and presented in Association with :

Comments from the pilot course conducted at CEM (2010):

“Useful. Given me a new perspective on important topics”

“Lectures very beneficial for improving insight...a very enjoyable and constructive day”

“Good balance of theory and practical sessions”

“As Emergency Medicine involves multiple specialties working together is very important”